

international code of signals

These maritime flags are used to visually communicate letters and messages while maintaining radio silence.